

The world of occupational health is full of constantly changing risks and legislation

You need the experts

We helped thousands of employers last year

And delivered services to all their employees

We saved businesses money

And had close to 100% of workers return to the job

We have evolved to meet the needs of today's employers

“Thanks to Collingwood Health, our sickness absence level has dropped from 8.9% to 3.7% — a reduction of 5.5%”

WITH SOME STRONG ROOTS

On our first root

In 1947 we were known as the Slough Industrial Health Service pre-dating the NHS – the first recognisable occupational health company in Britain

On our second root

We emerged from Yorkshire in the post-war period in the industrial heartland as the in-house welfare arm of British Steel

We acquired Sheffield in 2011 & Slough in 2015

Both were at the vanguard of occupational health medicine

Collingwoodhealth

Both now sit branded under the same tree

A low-angle, close-up shot of a large number of umbrellas. Most are a muted, dusty blue-grey color. In the center-right of the frame, one umbrella is a vibrant, solid blue, making it the focal point. The umbrellas are packed closely together, creating a textured, geometric pattern of triangular and quadrilateral segments. The lighting is soft and diffused, suggesting an overcast day.
